Council with the Nez Perces Indians

LAPWAI AGENCY, I. T., Oct 17, 1868.

At a Council held this day by Gov. D. W. Ballard, ex-officio Superintendent of Indian Affairs with the Nez Perces Indians the following proceedings were had:

Gov Ballard said: "In order that no misunderstanding or misapprehensions may arise as to my mission here, I have committed to writing what I have to say to you, which may be necessary. Capt. Porter will now read." Capt. Porter has read as follows:

Chiefs and people of the Nez Perces Nation:

A year ago last June, bearing of your disaffection I came to see and talk with you. I then caused the treaties to be read and explained and informed you that the last one had been ratified by the Senate of the United States and promulgated by the President and had become the law of the land equally binding upon you and the government, and I expressed confidence that its provisions would be made to carry out these treaty obligations with you. At that time I estimated that your present Reservation embraced nearly a million of acres of land. Your population number 3,000 souls, your stock about 11,000 head. I find that my estimate of the number of acres of land was too small by one third. Your Reservation contains one and a half millions of acres of land. This gives to each man, woman and child of your Nation 500 acres or to a family of six persons about 3,000 acres which is as much as nineteen white men are allowed to pre-empt of the Government.

Your stock is in proportion to 4½ head to 500 acres, and the grazing capacity of your land is fully equal to 100 animals to 500 acres.

I make this statement to show you that your complaints are not just, when you say your Reservation is too small. I am aware that some of your Chiefs have lately been to Washington, and while there, added some amendments to certain articles in the treaty of June 9th, 1863. These amendments are not law, nor can they be without the sanction of the United States, even when ratified, they make no change in the boundaries of the Reservation, except in the event that there is not sufficient land within the Reservation for the proper selecting of the 20 acre lots or farms, then selections of 20 acre lots of improved lands may be made outside, or the tenure of the lands the Indians now occupy not exceeding 20 acres shall be made secure to them with the privilege of pasturing on unoccupied lands. So if any of you have the impression that the lines of the Reservation as designated in the treaty of 1863 are annulled and those of 1855 (usually known as the Sioux Treaty), be at once undeceived—for such is not, nor cannot be the case.

The 8th Article of the treaty of June 9th, 1863 is so amended as to prohibit the cutting of timber on said Reservation except by permission of your Head Chief, your Agent and your Superintendent.

This is the sum and substance of the amended articles, so far as they relate to your Reservation, as agreed upon by United States Commissioner, N. P. Taylor on the part of the Government of the United States, and Lawyer, Timothy and Jason, on the part of the Nez Perces Nation.

I am not here now to discuss questions of disagreements. I tell you the law, and once for all, I say to you that I have no power to change the legal relations between you and the Government of the United States. I am only an Agent of the Government, under solemn oath, and bonds, to execute our agreements in accordance with instructions from Washington, and to that end I am now with you. I have authority and money to build a saw mill and flouring mill at Kamia to purchase $10,000 worth of agricultural implements, stock, etc., under the 2d clause of the 4th Article of treaty of June 9, 1863, and $20,000 to be expended in improving lands for allotments as per 3d Article, provided it is your desire that it be done prior to the regular survey and allotment as stipulated in said 3d Article, which it is impossible to comply with at once.

Now I desire that you make some expression touching the choice of the people for locating the mill at Kamia. I desire that you give me a catalogue of articles which you wish to have purchased with the $10,000, tabulated for the purchase of agricultural implements, stock, etc.

And I desire an expression from you as to the manner of expending the $20,000 tabulated under the head of removals, etc., and should your wishes seem reasonable they will be regarded.

Now you know my business here, you know the means I can command in serving you, you know upon what points I seek information from you. I am ready to hear what you have to say, or if you desire I will give you time for consideration among yourselves, and will hear from you on Monday morning at 9 o'clock. I leave the matter with you. My public duties are pressing and I cannot remain here longer than till Monday.

And now, my Nez Perces friends I wish to say to you that I have traveled over a large portion of your reservation. You have uplands unsurpassed for grazing and haying purposes, and valleys of matchless beauty and fertility. With industry and economy and disposition to cultivate the arts of civilization, no people on earth need be more happy, prosperous and independent. True your winters are cold and sometimes long, but your hills produce grass, from which an abundance of hay may be cut and stored for winter use. The straw from which your grain is thrashed, if stacked and properly secured before being damaged by rains, will afford good forage for your animals in winter. I am sorry to see that you are allowing this article of animal subsistence to go to waste. Take care of it—try it once. Stack and protect it from destruction till inclement weather overtakes you, and then note the difference in the condition of your stock when spring opens.

Lawyer, the head chief, then said: "But few of my chiefs are present. I wish to have them all here before I answer you."

Gov Ballard—"Lawyer, do you think that you can give me the answers by Monday morning?"

Lawyer—"We will if possible."

Jacob—"We will have a talk among ourselves and then give you answers."

Gov Ballard—"Are there any others who wish to speak? I am ready to hear."

Lawyer—"I cannot say anything more at present."

Council then adjourned till 9 o'clock A. M. Monday, 19th of October, 1868.

NEZ PERCES INDIAN AGENCY, Oct 19, 1868.
[Continuation of the Council.]

Gov Ballard—"My Nez Perces friends, I have been with you now more than a week. When I first arrived I informed Lawyer and the other chiefs then present that I would meet and speak with them on Saturday. In accordance with my promise I then said what I had to say, but as Lawyer informed me that many were absent I promised to remain until to-day, and as I see many new faces present, I will have my Secretary, Mr Porter, read to you what I said on Saturday in order that all may know what was said upon that occasion."

Mr Porter read the Governor's speech of Saturday, which was interpreted by Mr Joseph Craig.

Gov. Ballard—"In order that you may understand upon what authority I am acting I will have those articles of the treaty read which bear upon my business here read to you."

The articles were then read.

Gov. Ballard—"I have had this read and interpreted to you so that there can be no misunderstanding. Do not think that I can make any change, for I am only carrying out my instructions. I should now like to hear any thing you have to say to me."

Lawyer—"I have been keeping two laws (treaties)—the one of 1855 and the one of 1863. I did not understand either of these right. This is what I wrote to Washington and asked if I might go there and see what was wanted. I received an answer that I might go there and I was pleased. They told me that the sporting interpreter and four chiefs might come. We then started, the people of my —— —— —— to my white people that I was going to Washington. I took there by sea and after a long journey I arrived in New York city and then I went to Washington and saw —— —— —— —— —— Mr Taylor, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, I went to the head men at Washington.

After the death of the President I had an interview with the President, and he told me that I should have all that was promised to us in the treaty with Governor Stevens and Hale.

The President chose the men with whom the amendments were made. The President told me that we would get our pay from the Government.

I want all my people to be friendly. I wish Gov. Ballard to be friendly towards us.

The President told me that the Reservation would be —— I told him it was so and that the Indians were crowded upon the Lapwai and up Kamia, the farms are everywhere. The stock is very numerous. We spoke about these things a month and a half. I told the President I came there to talk nothing but to say what was right. I said my people's country was small; my country was almost mountain, there is no place for our children to grow anything about these things I talked a long time.

I was asked before I left Washington to say a few words. I spoke about the money that ought to be sent to my people from Washington to build a saw mill, grist mill and school house, and I was told that we would get all of these and then a school house up on the Lapwai. I was told that land was to be ploughed and fenced for us upon the Lapwai and Kamia, and that money had been sent for that purpose, but it was not known when the farms would be ready, and I said that when all was finished I would get my people together and tell them so. This was told me by Mr Mix, Assistant Commissioner of Indian Affairs, and by Senator Corbett. And when these farms are ready the Indians will have to live upon them, the families living together. If there was not enough land upon the Reserve, the people could live where they had been living. The country is small.

I was told nothing about another council or making any more treaties. The agent was to have a copy of the agreement made by me in Washington, and I was to have another.

The saw mill, grist mill and school house were to be built and this we were told when we came back from Washington. I spoke about all these things when I was there and thought they were all settled. I have a copy of the agreement.

I was told nothing about making new laws in this country. We spoke long, and even then did not get finished. I said the whites might have the mountains if they wished, but I wanted my people and their children to live where they had always lived. All these things were settled before I left the States. I told my people this and so they understand it. I said I was not going to be led by any other man, and I wanted them to live where they had been living. I wanted the mills and houses built. I was told in Washington that no white man should cut timber in my country. The land belongs to us and not to the whites. They were not to cut down trees and sell them, nor were white men to come and live in our country.

This is what I and Timothy and Jason were told when we were in Washington.

We want the mills built, we want the farms prepared. There are but a few chiefs present, but I wish them to say what they think. Some want stock, some horses and some plows purchased with the money.

"Have you heard understandingly, Governor Ballard, what I have said?"

Governor Ballard—"Yes, Lawyer, I hear and understand, and am well pleased."

Lawyer—"I told them when I was in Washington that they might take the mountains, but I had no good land to spare and that I would be led by no man. This I mean. Jason and Timothy can tell you the same thing."

Jason—"What Lawyer has said is truth. Three of us heard it. We know and remember what the President said. The President scratched out everything that had been done in this country and said nothing that would make any one ——. Mr. Taylor and Lawyer had a long talk. Lawyer said our country was small, but all this was fixed up. The President said that nothing should be done until it had been well talked over. He said that Lawyer would have to stay some time, but not to trouble about it as it was necessary in order to have things properly fixed up. We were to have the mills and school house built and farms made upon the Lapwai. We had a long talk about the farms upon the Lapwai, and had it properly fixed. The President told Lawyer that he was the same amongst his people as the President was amongst the whites and that we were all the same kind of people. This I heard myself. The President said we might live where we had always lived, and if anything happened to those living away off they would be attended to. Work by the whites was to be done upon the Kamai and Lapwai, but elsewhere the Indians must do for themselves. Lawyer asked the President if any thing was to be done. Nothing more to be done, the papers were signed. We are talking here to-day as though we had never spoken about these things before."

Dr Newell—"I heard Lawyer speak to the President and the biggest chiefs in the country. He represented you faithfully, he laid all your grievances before those great men, he spoke what he thought. He was told that the whites did not wish to do injustice, but that they were to be treated as white people. The President promised them all the advantages that he thought would be necessary for their comfort and happiness. And I think that you ought to be glad that Lawyer went to Washington.

And now I want to speak a few words to you about myself. The President has made me your agent and I receive my instructions through Gov Ballard. What orders I get I intend to obey. By myself alone I can do nothing satisfactorily. I want the Nez Perces chiefs to help me, and I want the white chiefs to help me, and if we work together we shall do well. People who live together in communities cannot get along without laws. People must have laws if they wish to do well and they must have others to enforce and carry out these laws.

Do you not think it is a shame that you have to get the whites to enforce your laws? Carry out your own laws. It is time that the Nez Perces had houses to live in like other people, and all who believe in a God must know that we must work in order to live. I have seen the agent of the Crows and he wants that you should stay at home and not go to their country. I am tired of hearing about the mountains, you must look to the Government for your living. I hope you will now begin to live properly. I have seen four young men drinking. I shall expect the chiefs to stop this and if they cannot do it I will see what I can do. I go into this work as your agent very slow but I intend it to be sure. There is a great deal of responsibility, and much work to be done, but about this I will say no more for the present. The Governor has ten thousand dollars to spend for such things as you want, and he has $20,000 to expend in ploughing and fencing farms for your use. As soon as he knows what your wishes are in reference to this money, he will return to his home.

Governor Ballard—"My Nez Perces friends you have heard what your agent has said. He has given you very good advice and I hope you will follow it. About a year ago I told you to do as Mr O'Neil directed, and now I wish you to do as Dr Newell directs —— work. Believe me no people can be happy and wise unless they are industrious. The treaty provides that two more chiefs be elected. I wish you to inform your agent when you choose the men for the office. Tell me as soon as you can what you want purchased with the money. The funds placed in my hands for the mill upon the Kamia are not large but we will do the best we can with it. If there are any of the non treaty party present who wish to say anything, I shall be glad to hear what they have to speak."

Red Star (non treaty Indian)—"There are but five of my people in this country. Two of us only are now present, the rest have all gone to the buffalo country. Red Heart and Eagle from the Light are there with them. I have heard what Lawyer —— and ——. All —— Lawyer —— several years since —— —— We all know what —— Lawyer —— We all knew when he left that he was going upon business connected with —— and we hoped that he would do something for our interests when he was there. Men, women and children all feared —— for the country was slowly going from us like a —— falling. We have all been anxiously waiting for Lawyer's return. Red Heart was —— —— for us —— —— Lawyer —— bring me back to —— bring important news. I have been listening to all you have said. The people who have gone to the buffalo country will hear through me what has been —— to-day —— —— —— —— and we —— —— thought and talked over.

You have listened patiently to what I have said. This is of great importance to us—it is no trifle. We are speaking about our country. All of our people have to live here and therefore we value every inch of it, for it is dear to us and we are attached to it. Our children were born here and our dead are buried here. It causes much talk among us. This is why we ought to do nothing in a hurry. I could speak about the early times of this country—the days of my boy years. About this I know, for I was born here. If we had plenty of time to talk over our affairs to each other we might again be all good friends as before, and form a friendship that would last forever.

These are Red Heart's sentiments. I arrived here only to-day and I find you are in a hurry, so will not say anything more."

The council then ended, the people promising to give Governor Ballard a list of the articles they wished to have purchased.

SEVERE JOKE ON NAPOLEON.—Henri Rochefort, editor of the Lanterne, has sent a letter to various Paris newspapers to this effect:

I had prepared a number of the Lanterne, to be published September 5th, in Paris, composed absolutely and exclusively, from the first line to the last, of extracts from the works of Prince Louis Napoleon Bonaparte, now Napoleon III.

This number appeared so violent to the various printers to whom I applied that not one of them dared venture to print it.

The fifteenth number of the Lanterne, therefore, can only be published, once more, in a foreign country.

M. Rochefort has prefixed to the number in question an introduction, in which he remarks:

I have been accused of violent and revolutionary views. I now sacrifice my revolutionary instincts, and in order to be perfectly sure that this fifteenth Lanterne shall neither be seized nor accused, I have devised this contrivance, of making it, from beginning to end, the work of another.

This other, whom nobody will accuse of disturbing civil order, and aspiring to change the government, is the conqueror of Solferino, Napoleon III.

Never—I must say it, in order not to frighten the mothers of family—never did I write anything so rash or so radical.

The State

Our returns are meagre, but the gains for Grant give us a well-grounded hope that we have carried Oregon. In Multnomah county we have made a gain of fully 200. Smith's majority last June in this county was 60, now Grant carries it, according to our estimates, by at least 140. In Oregon City and Canemah the majority for Grant is 88, being a Republican gain of 15. Clackamas county will give from 60 to 75 majority for Grant, which will be a gain of 30 to 50 since last June. Salem gives Grant 252 majority against 188 for Logan in June. This is a gain of 64. In Albany the Republican gain is 8. Douglas county is estimated at 70 majority, against 6 Democratic in the last State election. In Jacksonville we make a gain of 27. Dalles gives a Democratic majority of 64, a Republican gain of 27 since June. Hood River gives 21 Democratic majority, and Celilo 8, which show Republican gains. These reports show an aggregate Republican gain of 455. The same ratio of increase in other places will give us the State by a clear majority.

Carpet Baggers.

Some searcher after the origin of things claims to have discovered that this term was first used with a special disignation by a Captain Somebody who was a member of the Virginia Legislature. It is apparent that the term, by whomever introduced, is likely to become a permanent one in our language. Like most other political terms, the word carpet-bagger was applied by the originator as a bitter reproach. It has been universally adopted at the South as the name by which the natives of that section can best express their contempt of immigrants from the North. It is said the effect of the general use of this word at the South has been so singular and great that carpet-bags can hardly be sold there at all. People who travel, either buy trunks or go without baggage, rather than carry the odious article with them. But while many are so sensitive on this point, others are beginning to regard the term carpet-bagger as an honorable designation rather than a reproach. Men are beginning to call themselves carpet baggers, and the word is beginning to undergo a metamorphose like that which has changed such terms as "Whig" and "Democrat" from sneering by words to appellations which millions of men have been proud of. The "Boys in Blue," at their great Convention at Philadelphia in October last, bore such mottoes as the following: "A few Carpet-baggers from Massachusetts;" "The Buckeye [illegible] ;" "The first carpet bagger came over in the Mayflower," etc., etc. Incidents like these show that the term is losing its meaning. It will not long be used as a reproach. It springs out of a principle of incivility and exclusiveness—or rather, out of a narrow, biggotted, sectional notion, which is not willing to recognize all our people as citizens of a common country. The people of the North, who are going into the Southern States with strength and industry, with skill and with capital, with schools and carpet-bags, will effect a magical change in that portion of the Republic within a very few years.

The Decisions of the Supreme Court.—The New York Sun has the following short but significant article, which goes to the root of the [illegible]:

"A [illegible] wants to know in what cases the Supreme Court has made the decision referred to in a [illegible] report of a conversation between a [illegible] of this city and General Blair.

If "A Lawyer" will turn to the prize cases reported in 2 Black, he will find the following principles laid down by the court:

"The parties to a civil war are in the same predicament as two nations who engage in a contest, and have recourse to arms.

"The present civil war between the United States and the so-called Confederate States has such character and magnitude as to give the United States the same rights and powers which they might exercise in the case of a national or foreign war.

"Now [illegible] be doubted, that the belligerent party who claims to be sovereign may exercise both belligerent and sovereign rights."

In 20 Howard, 176, in the case of Listendorfer and others against Webb, "A Lawyer" will also discover the following:

"The Executive authority of the United States properly [illegible] a Provisional Government (in New Mexico) which ordained laws and established a judicial system, all of which continued in force after the termination of the war, and until modified by the direct legislation of Congress.'"

We trust that this will prove satisfactory.

The Capital of Nebraska.—Lincoln, the Capital of Nebraska, is a city of great surprising growth even in this very progressive age. Seven months ago there stood on this town site two log houses used by farmers as dwellings, situated one mile apart. Now, there dwell there a thousand souls, and many of the business houses and residences are of a fine order, being built of brick and stone.

A Ship Canal Through the Isthmus of Darien.—President Johnson, in his interview with General Acosta, the newly accredited Minister from the United States of Columbia, took occasion to advert to the importance of a ship canal through the Isthmus of Darien. He very properly directed the attention of the South American Plenipotentiary to the fact that while the republic of Columbia had granted certain privileges to citizens of the United States of America on the Isthmus of Panama in perfecting the Panama Railroad, it would be greatly advantageous to her interest and her glory, to give encouragement to our people in the construction of a broader inter-oceanic communication through the Isthmus of Darien. He reminded him that this neck of land is only thirty-four miles wide between the Gulf of Darien and the Pacific, and that the highest elevation was only forty feet. If sufficient protection and encouragement is afforded to our citizens, said Johnson, in substance, they will have that long desired ship canal open for navigation in two years, and thus supply the inadequate transit now afforded to the nations of the West and the East by the Panama Railroad. The President further remarked that American enterprise was already supplementing the connection between the Atlantic and Pacific through the Union Pacific Railroad from New York to San Francisco. "Please say this for me," said Mr. Johnson, "to the President, Congress, statesmen and people of Columbia, and all of them, that Japan, China, India and the whole East are needing that communication not less than the Western nations are earnestly desiring its achievement."

Just so. While the Union Pacific Railroad is bound to prove of incalculable value to the country and highly advantageous to the Government, which, notwithstanding the apparently large subsidy paid for its construction, it is estimated will turn out to be a very moderate expenditure compared with the saving in transportation of military supplies and troops by the old wagon routes, yet a water communication between the two oceans through the Isthmus of Darien is a want which the commerce of the West and East has been waiting to see supplied for many years. The geographical location of this Isthmus is admirably suited for a ship canal. It is one-third less—measuring the land route—than the Isthmus of Panama, because the fine navigable bay indenting the Pacific side meets the terminus of the proposed canal nearly one-third inland, thus leaving the length required to be engineered only thirty-four miles. If the Columbian Government adopts President Johnson's suggestions this route will supercede the Panama line, the proposed route of M. Lessup and all the other modes of communication between the Carribean sea and the Pacific.—N. Y. Herald.

M. Goni, Spanish Minister at Washington, has been recognised by the Junta as their representative.

THE ELECTION.

Great Republican Gains in Oregon!

MULTNOMAH COUNTY REDEEMED

Republican Gains in every Place heard from in the State.

Good Prospects for a Republican Majority in Oregon.

RETURNS FROM CALIFORNIA!

Gains Favor the Republicans

Great Reduction of the Democratic Majority in San Francisco.

Interior Counties Doing Well for the Republicans.

HURRAH FOR GRANT AND COLFAX!

Yesterday the Republicans of Oregon did a splendid day's work. Every county and precinct heard from shows Republican gains since last spring. Multnomah county has been revolutionized. Lane shows a large falling off in the Democratic majority. The few returns already in show a reduction of the Democratic majority gained in the State last spring of nearly one half. Everything looks favorable. Glory for Grant and Colfax and Republican principles!

The dispatches from California give only scattering returns, but all the returns favor the Republicans. The Democratic majority in San Francisco is reduced from 4,200 for Haight to 1,500 for Seymour. A comparison of the returns from the interior of the State with those of last year show that the Republican gains are uniform and general. The State is close, but we have strong faith that the Republicans have carried it.

Multnomah County.

The Republicans of Multnomah county did nobly yesterday. They proved the truth of what we have often asserted that Portland is a Republican city, and have effectually wiped out the dishonor of last spring. The redemption of Multnomah is a glorious achievement. This county has given the factions, partisan Democrats who misrepresent it in the Legislature to understand that their resignations at this time would be particularly appropriate and acceptable. Will the men who have been carrying things with so high a hand at the State Capital, who have presumed to repudiate the Constitution of the United States, and who have demanded that our Senators in Congress shall resign, heed the voice of the people they have outraged and betrayed, and resign, themselves? Hurrah for the Republican victory in Multnomah!

We give a statement of the vote in Portland:

	GRANT.	SEYMOUR.
North Portland	115	153
Washington	288	321
Central	300	247
South Portland	282	149
	985	870

Grant's majority, 115.

East Portland gives Grant a majority of twelve, a gain of twenty-four since last June. Fulton gives one Republican majority. Reports received from other precincts of the county during yesterday afternoon are highly favorable, though we have no definite returns. Hurrah again and again for the victory in Multnomah!

It is reported that the Pope will shortly promulgate another Encyclical, addressed to the bishops of the Church of England and other Protestant communion, inviting them to attend the Ecumenical Council on Dec. 8, 1869. The Panier and the "Grecian Bend."—But what of the latest atrocity in fashion, the abominable panier? The only place as yet where they have flourished undisguised and without restraint is at Saratoga. Are they to reappear in all their hideous deformity during the coming fashionable season in New York? For the honor of the sex, I hope not. If women were really the mere puppets which society endeavors to make them, we should have no objection to see them rendered deformed, grotesque, or ridiculous, any more than we should to witness the vagaries of a Punch and Judy show. But to see real women, women of flesh and blood and heart and brain, lend themselves to such aping of horrible deformity is worse than saddening—it makes one fear for them—dreadful retribution—unnaturally born children, for instance a nation in the future of wretched humpbacks and crooked monsters. We have no disposition to speak of the machinery by which the shameful apparent excrescence is produced—there are panier "hooped skirts" complete in themselves, but as a general rule the panier "bustle" is detached, can be worn or removed at pleasure. Of course the form of the panier must be perfected, underneath the dress and other skirts, or the fullness in textile fabrics would collapse, and the stylish hump be entirely lost.

A more fitting accompaniment to a donkey panier could not be found than the "Grecian bend," or the "colic stoop," as it is more properly called, and the mincing step now affected by society young ladies. Such absolute silliness is not worth talking seriously about, and should not be considered as reflecting discredit upon women generally any more than the drawl of the dandy should serve as conclusive evidence that the male sex are destitute of brains—still, we must confess that we never see the fashionable hump, and bend and step, without wishing that we could avail ourselves of an old fashioned privilege, and give the exhibitor of these doubtful airs and graces a good spanking.

"Going! Going!! Gone!!!"—Faster than the Auctioneer's hammer knocks down merchandise, neglect disposes of the teeth. Bid, therefore, for the prize of life, a perfect set, by brushing them regularly with Sozodont.

"Spalding's Glue" has now taken the place of all Cements and Mucilages.

The following is an extract from a private Letter written by the Proprietors of the Plantation Bitters:

We had no conception of the wide-spread suffering which exists, or of the almost infallible cures produced by the Plantation Bitters, when we first commenced offering them for sale. We now find that every house has a weak child, an ailing parent or debilitated aged member, who need this Tonic. Our Laboratory has grown from a single room to an immense building, and our sales from a few bottles to many hundred dozens per day, and we are glad to know that they have done you so much good.

IT IS AN INVARIABLE LAW OF NATURE, that every human being shall do those acts which he thinks will secure good to him, and that he shall avoid those acts which may occasion a loss to him or the family he is a member of. In conformity with that law, it is the duty of every person to purchase of Kohn & Fishel all the goods they may be in need of. The fair sex, who certainly are always most happy to comply with all things beneficial to themselves and families, should not fail to examine the fine and extensive stock of Kohn & Fishel, and they will confess their stock of Dry Goods to be of superior quality and at figures below other houses. Men, more bold and less calculating than our fair ladies, should be reminded that Kohn & Fishel, indeed, are the leaders of fashion, the lowest in price, and no man should wear clothes unless they are purchased at Kohn & Fishel's, No. 91 Front street.

The Evidence.—We publish the following, furnished as the evidence given in the case of S. E. Stone vs. the Oregon City Woolen Manufacturing Company, tried in Oregon City last week. The action was brought by Mr. Stone to recover damages for the loss of his hand taken off by machinery in the mill of the company during 186[illegible]. The verdict was for $5,000 in favor of the plaintiff. The evidence showed that the company had set up in their finishing room a fan operated on a horizontal shaft making about 700 revolutions a minute. The shaft extended about six inches beyond the bearings on each side, and was worked by a pulley on one end, the other end being without pulley and uncovered. The shaft was [illegible] fastened at the bearings by a collar, held in place by a set screw with a square head, not countersunk. Opposite this shaft in a diagonal direction and [illegible] by a door space a few feet was a machine used in drying cloth called an extractor, somewhat like a tub revolving within a tub. On the day of the [illegible], the plaintiff was engaged with a fellow workman in drying blankets and taking them out to the rear of the building and hoisting them by pulleys to the loft. To hoist the blankets it was necessary to tie them up with small ropes. There was no necessity for carrying the ropes inside among the machinery, as they were needed only for hoisting; there was no necessity for going through the passage between the extractor and the fan, as the blankets could have been put into the extractor and taken out again upon the side nearest the door and in front of this [illegible] or by removing some wool which lay on the [illegible] a passage around, more than [illegible] feet [illegible] extractor, [illegible] have been [illegible] there was no [illegible] machinery at all. Still [illegible] of that the passage in question was frequently used for carrying cloth back and forth. On the day of the accident the plaintiff started from the [illegible] door to go through the [illegible] of blankets, the extractors of the fan being both in operation. He had in his right hand a hand barrow, eight or ten feet long and three or three and a half feet wide, used for carrying out [illegible] his left hand next to the fan and [illegible] of the ropes used in hoisting. The shaft of the fan [illegible] was about eight feet [illegible] the [illegible]. The ropes were caught and suddenly [illegible] up, and plaintiff's hand torn off.

Stone testified that he [illegible] would be the safest to carry the ropes in, but just went right along, as a tired man [illegible]

A Fight—[illegible] that we should have a great many fights and [illegible] to chronicle, but thanks to the good [illegible] of the citizens of Portland we [illegible] of [illegible] expected to be served up in this morning's paper. The most perfect quiet [illegible] during the entire day. In fact we heard many persons who have [illegible] here for years remark that they had [illegible] election in the city before. We heard of no [illegible] anywhere until about four o'clock in the afternoon when there was a fight of the most [illegible] character. There were but few words passed between the parties before the blows began to come in [illegible]. The [illegible] target for the [illegible] of these [illegible] was a man called Jake Smith. Four or five men seemed to be fighting this one individual, who was [illegible] his assailants in the most fearful manner. We never saw this man Smith until [illegible] and [illegible] about him, except what we [illegible] from the [illegible] on Stark street, [illegible] of voting, neither do we care which side he is on, but we will [illegible] that he can handle any three of the [illegible] men who were endeavoring to get the [illegible] of him [illegible] day.

Attention.—Now that the [illegible] have been made on the cistern at the [illegible] of Taylor and Third streets, we beg leave to call the [illegible] of the City Fathers to the fact that there is need of work upon the one on Washington street. A hole has been made in the cover [illegible] place for teams passing that way. Let the matter be [illegible] to, and it may be the [illegible]

Court Proceedings.—In the U. S. District Court, Judge Deady presiding, the following [illegible] transacted yesterday:

United States vs. the [illegible] till next term.

United States vs. A. S. [illegible] et. al.; [illegible] till next term.

James Newell and John Kelly were admitted to citizenship of the United States.

[illegible]—A fair [illegible] at the Methodist Church last night to hear the [illegible] by Dr. Wythe. As usual the lecturer instructed and [illegible] with a multitude of facts [illegible]. Three more lectures of the course remain to be delivered, and from the known ability of the speaker and the interest manifested in those heretofore given, we doubt not they will be [illegible] attended.

Theatre.—The political excitement last night kept a great many from witnessing the beautiful [illegible] of Don Caesar De Bazan. By [illegible] the performance was pronounced a splendid [illegible]. The [illegible] drama of "Ingomar the [illegible]," is on the bill for this evening, and we can only say to those [illegible] to see a first class performance to [illegible].

For Seymour.—Three Democratic voters in North Portland precinct yesterday insisted on casting their votes for [illegible] and Blair, and spurned the idea of voting for any one else, even Chadwick, [illegible] and [illegible] of these beautiful specimens [illegible] upon the poll books, for Presidential [illegible] for the State of Oregon, Seymour and Blair.

Excited.—Much excitement was [illegible] on the street last night in regard to the election. The [illegible] office was besieged by men eager to catch the first tidings of news which might be flashed across the wires. As the returns came in the party in whose favor they were could be told very readily by the manner in which they were received. The most of the smiles were on one side.

Have [illegible].—Messrs. E. A. Hawley & Co. of this city and [illegible] E. Dodd of Salem, have bought out the interest [illegible] the firm of Jacob Underhill & Co. in the Agricultural Implement and Hardware business in this city and will soon open out a [illegible] stock in their line at the corner of Oak and Front streets.

Runaway.—A runaway occurred on Front street yesterday. No person was injured, but judging from the dilapidated state of the harness which the [illegible] were as they passed the foot of Stark street, we should judge some repairs were necessary to make them as "good as new."

Pictures of the Ruins.—We [illegible] photographs of the ruins in San Francisco by the late earthquake. They show that a [illegible] hard shaking was done. We had rather "not take any in ours."

Arrived.—The brig Brewster arrived [illegible] last with a full cargo of assorted merchandise. Her manifest will be found elsewhere. She is now discharging at the wharf of Couch & Flanders.

Meeting.—The members of the Temperance Library Association will meet at the Library Rooms this evening at half-past seven o'clock. There will be important business and a full attendance is requested.

The Evidence.—We publish the following [illegible] the evidence given in the case of S. E. Stone vs. the Oregon City Woolen Manufacturing Company tried at Oregon City last week. The action was brought by Mr [illegible] to recover damages for the loss of his hand taken off in the mill of the company during 1866. The verdict was for $5,000 in favor of the plaintiff. The evidence showed that the company had set up in their building a fan operated upon a horizontal shaft and making about 700 revolutions a minute. The shaft extended about six inches beyond the bearings on each side, and was turned by a pulley on one end, the other end being without pulley and uncovered. This shaft was secured at the bearings by a collar held in place by a screw with a square head, not counter sunk. Opposite this shaft in a diagonal direction and distant by a space 4½ feet was a machine used in drying cloth, called an extractor, somewhat like a tub revolving with [illegible]. On the day of the accident the plaintiff was engaged with a fellow workman in trying blankets [illegible] taking them out to the rear of the building and [illegible] them by pulleys to the loft. To hoist the blankets it was necessary to carry them up with small ropes. There was [illegible] for carrying the ropes [illegible] along the [illegible] as they were needed [illegible] for hoisting [illegible] there [illegible] by going through the passage between [illegible] and the fan as the blankets could have been put into the extractor and taken out again upon the [illegible] the door and in front of this passage, or by [illegible] which lay on the opposite side of the [illegible] around more than seven feet wide [illegible] been made where there was no [illegible] at all. Still it appeared that the [illegible] in question was frequently used for [illegible] cloth back and forth. On the day of the [illegible] started from the outer door [illegible] a load of blankets the extractor of the fan being in operation. He had under his right hand a load [illegible] eight or ten feet long and three or three and a half [illegible] used for carrying out blankets on and in [illegible] to the fan and revolving shaft three [illegible] of the ropes used in hoisting. The shaft of the fan [illegible] above the floor. The [illegible] caught and suddenly wound up, and plaintiff's [illegible] that he was not thinking which hand [illegible] to carry the ropes in, but just went [illegible] a tired man would, [illegible]

A Fine—Saturday being election day, we expected [illegible] have a great many fights and disturbances [illegible] but thanks to the good behaviour of the [illegible] we are deprived of several items [illegible] to be served up in this morning's paper. G. VENARD,

CHARTRES COFFEE!

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER NOS 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF [illegible] of all—in. The undersigned who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to defraud the public, palming upon them their inferior products for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless buyers should be forewarned, and put on their guard against this practice.
